Paper Makers and Publishers at Odds Over Tariff

EXPLOITING IS CHARGED

Excessive. Unreasonable and Wholly Unfair Prices Are Charged,' Says Publisher.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 .- Senate tariff hearings were enlivened to-day by an attack on American newspaper publishers by William E. Haskell of New York city, vice-president of the Internationa on the newspaper print manufacturers on the newspaper print manufacturers by William J. Pape, publisher of the Waterbury, Conn., Republican, speaking for a number of small publishers, who, he said, organized a joint buying corporation because many of them were unable, single handed, to assist themselves in an effort to obtain fair prices on newsprint.

in an effort to obtain fair prices on enewsprint.

Urging a tariff protection for his industry against European competition, Col. Hankell told the committee that a Congress had gradually yielded to the claimors of the paid agents of the publishers with the claim of the paid agents of the publishers with the claim of the paid agents of the publishers with the claim of the industry abandoned to drift in the ebb and flow of the international competitive tide."

Asserting that newsprint was the only product of the paper making industry "which has been deprived of all protection and bedeviled by inspired Federal regulation and interference," the witness said ther ensom for "the inviduous treatment this branch of the industry has suffered is obvious." He added that "the fact that the press can control legislation and invoke unwarranted regulations, restrictions and interference for its own selfish interests, constitutes a grave charge of undue influence and special privilege."

The charge that any "undue full respective to the charge of the publishers in arguing for the placing of newsprint paper on the free list was denied by Emory Thomason of Chicago, speaking for the American Newspaper Publishers' Association. He declared the publishers had been used by the publishers and boased their argument on the economic ground of the inability of American newsprint manufacturers to supply domestic consumption. This inability was stated by Col. Haskell.

Mr. Pape told the committee that the question before Congress in determining as to the retention of newsprint paper on the free list was deaded by the publishers and beased their argument on the economic ground of the inability of American newsprint manufacturers to supply domestic consumption. This inability was stated by Col. Haskell.

domestic consumption. This inability was stated by Col. Haskell.

Mr. Pape told the committee that the question before Congress in determining as to the retention of newsprint paper on the free list was whether the publishers should again have imposed on them such a condition as was found by a Senate committee, which reported last year that certain manufacturers had taken advantage of a newsprint shortage "to exploit the purchasers" and "hold them up for excessive, unreasonable and wholly unfair prices."

Publishers who, as a class, largely dominate public opinion affecting business policies through direct appeal to readers, Mr. Pape added, "have been potently weak when fighting for a fair price for newsprint." He declared that on no less than three occasios in the last ten years prices had "soared to undramed of heights," and that nothing, including the Federal Trade Commission, Congressional and court action, had "stayed the demands imposed by certain of those who control the supply of newsprint."

Col. Haskell, in presenting the case for the manufacturers, suggested by definite rate of duty for newsprint, saying he would leave that to the committee. He contended that the industry was in bad shape as a result of competition from Germany, Sweden, Norway and Finland, asserting that paper made in those countries could be sold here for from 31 to $250 below the sold here for from $30 to $250 below the actual cost of production here.

On the other hand, Mr. Pape argued that the prices of the foreign made paper sought about the level in this country, that it was the price here that attracted manufacturers in the foreign countries and that imports from Europe had proved the salvation of the articles and that imports from Europe had proved the salvation of the articles and that imports from Europe had proved the salvation of the salv sary to equalize difference in labor costs in the United States and foreign countries. Mr. Jones, who followed Mr. Kent, and who was assigned to present the argument in favor of free hides, declared in response to questions of Senators that as a matter of fact a majority of the manufacturers did not want a duty on shoes.

Auction of Park Stands Beats Old Bid System

CALE by auction of various con cessions in public parks, held in the Municipal Building yes-terday proved more successful than ne old plan of receiving bids. Mrs. Lucy Madden gave $22,800 a year for five years for the privi-lege of selling candles, peanuts, gum and such things outside the elephant house in Central Park. The old price was $2,000 a year. The carrousal privilege in the park is to bring $2,675 a year instead of $400. Emanuel Limberger got it.

John J. Doeling got the right to sell candies from twenty-five dif-ferent points for $39,000 a year. The old rental was $4,200.

The dairy restaurant in Central Park will bring $12,250 a year from Eugene Glenn, instead of $600 a year as formerly.

The stand next to the subway klosk at Park row and Center street will bring $21,150 instead of $2,750 in the future.

A similar view was expressed by Senator King (Utah), one of the leading members of the minority party. He said:

"Justice Clarke is entitled to entertain and to express if he so desires his private opinion regarding the foreign indebtedness, but the Congress and the American people have long since made up their minds on that subject.

"The opinion of the Justice is not likely to have any undue weight with the people or to influence members of Congress in the stand they have repeatedly taken to the effect that these debts must be liquidated aconer or later by our foreign debtors."
